NATIONAL SEMINAR ON “EXPLORING PSYCHOSOCIAL PERSPECTIVES IN EDUCATION”

(SATURDAY, JANUARY 28, 2017)

About The National Seminar

Educational issues, concerns and challenges can be explained through various perspectives. These perspectives have emerged in various disciplines such as psychology, sociology, philosophy and so on. These theoretical perspectives have their own assumptions and arguments. But, it is a fact that no single perspective is sufficient to explain the personal development and social relations and so, there is great need to develop perspective which provides inter-perspective framework to explore the educational concerns. Here, the basic premise of psychosocial perspective is viewed with reference to psychological and sociological perspectives, approaches and theories. Therefore, the main objective of the national seminar is to explore the psychosocial perspectives in education, where we all will be exploring the key concerns of education and analyze them with the help of psychosocial perspective.
